

Jingjing Tang

George Fazekas, Geraint Wiggins

End-to-End System Design with Deep Learning for Performance Style Transfer and Generation

Transformers can learn and reconstruct human expressiveness in music performances and the differences of pianists could be learned by convolutional neural networks.

Is that possible to generate performances of a composition in the styles of different pianists through contrastive learning?

