

End-to-End System Design with Deep Learning for Performance Style Transfer and Generation

Jingjing Tang
2020

Finding

Transformers can learn and reconstruct human expressiveness in music performances and the differences of pianists could be learned by convolutional neural networks.

Question

Is that possible to generate performances of a composition in the styles of different pianists through contrastive learning?