

Yin-Jyun Luo

Sebastian Ewert and Simon Dixon

Unsupervised Disentangled Representation Learning for Sequential Data

It is common to sample a sequence given a sequence-level and a frame/segment-level latent variables. It can probably be seen both as a necessary inductive bias for the unsupervised learning, or a limited assumption that hinders the optimisation. How to strike a balance in this potential trade-off?